Czar's Troops Attack in Poland to Keep Foe from Reinforcing Army in Hungary.

London, April 16. Although a thaw has set in on the Carpathian Mountains has set in on the Carpathian Mountains and the roads have been turned into mud and districts inundated by swollen streams, the Russians, according to their official report, have taken further heights in the mountain ranges and repulsed attacks in the vicinity of Rostoki and also in the direction of the Stry, where the Austro-Germans were attempting an outfanking movement.

The Austrians make similar claims and disclose the fact that the Russians have been attacking also in Southeast Poland and Western Galicia, apparently with a view to preventing the Austrians from sending any more reinforcements into the Carpathians.

According to a dispatch from Ungvar, Hungary, on the fighting between the Stry and the Valley of the Ondaya, a German army composed of picked men attacked the Russians marching on Bereg. After thirty-two hours of severe fighting the Russians succeeded in repulsing the Russians and capturing a quantity of arms and ammunition.

Another dispatch received here from Vienna says sixty-five Austrian officers have been disciplined for negligence which resulted in the annihilation of a division of reserves near Bereg and the Austrian defeat in the Sarao region.

Reports from Austrian army headquarters through Berlin describe the four weeks' battle in the Carpathian Mountains as the most gigantic in the history of the world, 3,500,000 men participating. According to the Austrian claim, the Russians were repulsed with the most appalling losses. Trains conveying the wounded to the interior of Russia on some days numbered as many as 600. and the roads have been turned into

On the Italian Frontier, April 16.—
Italy to-day has 1,200,000 first line soldiers under arms. They are from twenty to twenty-six years of age. They are perfectly armed and equipped otherwise "to the last button."
General Zupelli, the Italian Minister of War, speaking on the military situation in Italy, said that a miracle had been accomplished, in that a country which for about twenty years had maintained a military organization merely for the preservation of peace had created what he accounts and the most perfect of war machines. The change was not easy, General Zupelli said, as was proved wherever the same work was attempted. Great Britain, for example, had faced the same problem, and though possessing greater resources was even less prepared than listy. The War Minister said that the

Rome, April 16.—Prince von Bülow, the German Ambassador to Italy, is indefatigable in his efforts to bring about an understanding diplomatically between Italy and Austria. His task is recognized here to be most difficult, yet those who have seen him lately declare that he seems to be more satisfied. Close observers argue that Austria is slowly beginning to realize that her future existence depends upon reaching some understanding with Italy.

Prince von Bülow's course is belived to be just now devoted largely to conveying to Austria that to satisfy Italy is not a measure of the moment, but would be a farsighted step for the future, his argument being that a close

FRENCH SEE OMENS OF VICTORY IN SKIES

Paris, April 16 .- Meteorological phenomena have been observed so frequently of late that the question is raised whether there is any relation between them and the continual artillery firing on the battle front. Abbe Moreux, director of the observatory at Bourges, says that his attention has been called every few days to singular phenomena in the sky, such as halos, crowns and luminous crosses. Many devout persons see in the latter manifestations, he says, a mystic sign of approaching victory.

Abbe Moreux says that these crosses are reflections produced by humidity in the atmosphere, and probably are due to depressions originating over the north Atlantic. He asserts that they have no connection with the artillery firing.
